

STATE STREET.

As a proud sponsor of the Boston Children's Museum's Children of Hangzhou: Connecting with China exhibition, State Street is pleased to be able to help share with the Boston community, and especially its children, this unique insight into Chinese culture. We invite you and your family to discover this wonderful exhibit.

State Street's Technology Center at Zhejiang University, one of China's leading universities based in Hangzhou, collaborated with the Boston Children's Museum to develop software to bring the Children of Hangzhou: Connecting with China exhibition to life. The software was designed to engage visitors in the following areas: learning to speak Chinese; exploring the geography of China; playing a traditional game; and comparing and contrasting attitudes and opinions of children in China and North America.

By supporting the Boston Children's Museum, we hope to give back to the Boston community by assisting local children, parents and educators to deepen their understanding of Chinese culture and contemporary life.